Gary G. Grindler is a partner with King & Spalding’s Special Matters/Government Investigations Practice Group. He focuses on white-collar criminal defense; internal investigations; money laundering, financial fraud, and congressional investigations; Foreign Corrupt Practices Act; False Claims Act and other complex civil litigation.

Prior to joining the firm in 2013, Mr. Grindler served as acting Deputy Attorney General of the U.S. Department of Justice, the second highest-ranking official in the Department, and Chief of Staff to the Attorney General. As acting Deputy Attorney General, he supervised 94 United States Attorney’s offices, all department law enforcement agencies (Federal Bureau of Investigation, Drug Enforcement Administration, Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms and U.S. Marshals Service) and the civil, criminal, tax, antitrust, environmental, civil rights and national security divisions. Prior to serving as acting Deputy Attorney General, Mr. Grindler served as Deputy Assistant Attorney General in the Criminal Division where he supervised the fraud and appellate sections.

In 2000 and 2013, the Attorney General presented him with the Edmund J. Randolph Award, the highest award the Justice Department can present to one of its lawyers.
