

Computer Job-Search Resources

There are so many job-search resources on the World Wide Web that it is virtually impossible to list them all. The World Wide Web sites listed below are just a few which list job vacancies, give information on organizations recruiting graduates, give career fair information or allow you to post your résumé. This list is in no way complete, but will give you a place to start.

Web Site	Locator
Alliance for Justice	http://www.afj.org
America's Job Bank	http://www.ajb.dni.us/
CareerPath	http://careerpath.com/
Hieros Gamos Legal Employment Classified	http://www.hg.org/employment.html
Illinois State Bar Association	Http://www.isba.legalstaff.com
Job Trak	http://www.jobtrak.com/
Jobweb	http://www.jobweb.org
Law Employment Center	http://www.lawjobs.com
Legal Employment Search Site	http://www.legalemploy.com
Law Information Employment Center	http://www.lawinfo.com/employment/
Law Match	http://www.lawmatch.com/
Law Research: Employment Central	http://www.lawresearch.com
National Association for Law Placement	http://www.nalp.org/
NC Employment Security	http://www.esc.state.nc.us
Peoria County Bar Association	http://www.peoriabar.org
The Monster Board	http://www.monster.com/
The Riley Guide	http://www.rileyguide.com
US Department of Justice	http://www.usdoj.gov/
Yahoo's Guide to Government on the Internet	http://www.yahoo.com/government
Yahoo's Guide to Employment on the Internet	http://www.yahoo.com/business_and_economy/
Wetfeet:	http://wetfeet.com

It can be very helpful in your job-search to learn more about the cities where you may interview. Information about cities can also be found on the internet. The web sites below list cities that have web pages.

USA Cities	Http://www.usacitiesonline.com
------------	---